NEESON CALLS IT QUILTS

Screen star Liam Neeson ("Schindler's List") has shocked the movie industry. The Irish-born actor told reporters in New York that he will never make another film and is quitting Hollywood in disgust after being treated like a "puppet."

TIMEdaily

WINNER AND LOSER OF THE DAY

Winner:

Keiko: The former star of the movie "Free Willy" is being trained to survive on his own. In preparation for the killer whale's exit from his watery Icelandic pen, Keiko is being weaned of human affection. Hopes are high that this treatment of tough love may enable the whale to live on his own by the end of the year.

Loser:

Bison: A federal appeals court has announced that bison leaving Yellowstone National Park in search of winter forage may be killed. Over the past three years more than 1,200 bison have met such a fate in an effort to protect Montana's cattle from being infected with a livestock disease.

REFUGEES FACE LONG WAIT

Kosovo's refugees are unlikely to be home by Christmas, or even by Ramadaan (which most of them celebrate). Even if all sides agree quickly to a peace deal, the logistics of reversing the Serbs' "ethnic cleansing" are mammoth. President Clinton met ethnic Albanian refugees in Germany Thursday and vowed to guarantee their return. But the very fact of those refugees' being in Germany -- and in New Jersey -- underscores the effectiveness of Milosevic's depopulation of the region. So even as President Clinton promised that the refugees would "go home in peace and freedom," U.N. humanitarian officials coordinating relief efforts urged Western leaders to support the refugees in Macedonia and Albania through a bitter Balkan winter.

"Many other problems remain to be solved before the refugees can return," says TIME Central Europe reporter Dejan Anastasijevic. Redeploying the 40,000 Serb troops from the ravaged province will take some time, as will the assembly and deployment of an international force. Rebuilding infrastructure damaged by the war to allow for the orderly movement of some 600,000 refugees back to their villages will take many months. But most will return as soon as possible. "The refugees are mostly rural people," says Anastasijevic. "They're far too attached to their land to consider settling anywhere else." For more visit <http://www.time.com/daily>

NEW STANDARD FOR MUSIC ONLINE

Like it or not, the Net looks like the record store of the future. But how can record companies prevent downloading copyrighted music in digital form, without paying for it? Universal Records is inventing its own, brand-new digital format, one that will resist copying and that will require users to pay to download it. Universal announced Wednesday that it would try to have the new pay-for-play standard up and running by Christmas. The Recording Industry Association of America, which represents a number of big-time labels, is trying to promote its own standard under the name SDMI; apparently, Universal got tired of waiting for SDMI to materialize, so it decided to set a somewhat brisker pace. ## CLINTON IMPEACHMENT TRIAL

MAJORITY VOTE TO CONVICT ON PERJURY SEEMS TO BE IN DOUBT

By ERIC SCHMITT

WASHINGTON -- As the Senate privately debated for a second day whether to remove President Clinton from office, Republican support for conviction began cracking and an effort to censure the President had virtually died.

Three Republican moderates, Sens. James Jeffords of Vermont, Arlen Specter of Pennsylvania and John Chafee of Rhode Island, said they would oppose both the perjury and obstruction of justice charges. Two more Republicans said they would vote for obstruction but against the perjury charge, all but assuring that the perjury article would not receive a simple majority of 51 votes.

Jeffords said the president obstructed justice but that it did not rise to an removable offense. The senator predicted that as many as six other Republicans would vote against both charges, a forecast that if correct would mean the article on obstruction could also fail to get a majority, much less the 67 votes required for conviction.

Jeffords said he tried in his speech on the floor of the Senate on Wednesday to persuade his Republican colleagues not to buckle to pressure to convict the president. "I wanted to assure some people who were on the edge that it would be

MIAMI'S GENERATIONS OF EXILES, SIDE BY SIDE, YET WORLDS APART

SPECIAL REPORT BY MIREYA NAVARRO

MIAMI -- In a classroom of newly arrived Cubans, Alex Alvarez, a Cuban transplant himself, wasted no time recently scaring his students straight. "Welcome to the capitalist system," he said. "Each one of you is responsible for the amount of money you have in your pocket. The government is not responsible for whether you eat or whether you're poor or rich. The government doesn't guarantee you a job or a house."

"You've come to a rich and powerful country, but it is up to you whether or not you continue living like you did in Cuba."

Such warnings were not necessary 40 years ago, when Cubans fleeing Fidel Castro settled down here to await -- some to plot -- his downfall. They came from a capitalist system, with enough education and the necessary ambition to fulfill the American dream. But Castro has lasted so long that Miami now reflects different Cubans.

The people from today's Cuba, the children of the revolution, include those filling out job applications in Alvarez's class at the Training and Employment Council of South Florida, where he admonishes them. "Put down 'High School, Havana, Cuba.' Do not write 'Secundaria Ho Chi Minh.'"

The people from an earlier Cuba and their children have grown into a Miami Who's Who. The mayors of the city and county of Miami, the county police chief and the county state attorney are all Cuban-born or of Cuban descent. So are the president of the largest bank, the owner of the largest real estate developer, the managing partner of the largest law firm, nearly half of the county's 27-member delegation in the state Legislature and two of its six members of Congress.

About the only accomplishment Cuban-Americans cannot claim is regaining their country.

There's an irony and pathos about the situation," a University of Miami sociologist and expert on Cuban affairs, Max Castro, said. "They have succeeded as immigrants and failed as exiles."

That success and failure is etched on Miami, the main repository of Cuban dreams and dissent in the United States,

TECHNOLOGY MORE STATES CONSIDER LAWS RESTRICTING JUNK E-MAIL

By JERI CLAUSING

As lawmakers around the country discover that their constituents are concerned about Internet issues, bills to regulate or outlaw junk e-mail are popping up in state legislatures. Three laws restricting junk e-mail are already on the books, and lawmakers are considering four more.

Advocates of the laws say they are encouraged by the new interest state lawmakers are taking in protecting consumers and Internet service providers from the scourge of junk e-mail, dubbed "spam" by annoyed recipients. However, they are also concerned that a patchwork of different laws across the country could hamper legitimate online marketing.

"We would prefer a single good federal law, but if we can't find a federal solution we're going to have to work state by state," said John Mozena, a board member of the Coalition Against Unsolicited Commercial E-Mail (CAUCE).

"The problem is, that would also make it much harder for people playing by the rules, and we don't want to make it difficult for people to do authentic business online," Mozena said. "We just want them to be paying their own freight. But we will take 50 state laws, so be it, if we can't get a federal law."

Legislators adjourning for their 1999 sessions have introduced proposed spam laws in Texas, Virginia, Washington and Maryland. More are expected before lawmakers in other states wrap up this year's business.

In the last Congress, CAUCE had been pushing for federal legislation to amend an existing junk fax law to also outlaw unsolicited junk e-mail. That bill, which was sponsored by Representative Chris Smith, a New Jersey Republican, made little headway. Instead, the Senate passed a proposal by Senators Robert Torricelli, a New Jersey Democrat, and Frank Murkowski, an Alaska Republican, that would have regulated junk e-mail by requiring that it be labeled as advertising and that senders provide an easy way for recipients to get off their mailing lists. Although that bill never made it through the House, the senators are expected to introduce a new version this year.

The Murkowski-Torricelli bill has been favored by the Direct Marketing Association (DMA). But groups like CAUCE say it still fails to address the issue of cost. Internet service providers pay for the cost of processing millions of pieces of junk e-mail, and some Internet users must pay their ISP or phone company for the time they spend downloading spam.

In a surprise announcement in December, CAUCE and the DMA said they had reached a tentative agreement on principles for new federal legislation. But Mozena said in a telephone interview last week that his optimism about finalizing that agreement was waning.

For now, he said, CAUCE is working with state lawmakers around the country, trying to add to the list of three states that already have laws restricting junk e-mail. He said the Removal of a President in the absence of public outrage would be a Draconian mistake. Impeachment was an ineradicable mark on his record; the Senate trial was public purgatory. That's a powerful warning to future Presidents contemplating obstruction. The principled majority of
